VISION

Providing A Positive Teaching Environment That Is Conducive To Learning

Mind of Christ Institute (MOCI), a Christian educational institution, is covered as a ministry/business under the Church of the Everlasting Kingdom (C.O.T.E.K). The school serves students throughout the United States of America through its home location in Baltimore, Maryland and by way of distance learning.

Mind of Christ Institute is committed to serving people of diverse backgrounds. MOCI does not discriminate by gender, religion, denomination, faith, physical disability, race, or age. MOCI is open to anyone desiring to seek information on Christianity, the Kingdom of God, and Biblical principles.

MISSION

Sharing The Truth Across A Multitude Of Demography And Geography

Mind of Christ Institute supports both traditional and nontraditional students. Regardless of one's commitments in life, MOCI offers courses that can be balanced with other responsibilities.

Courses are held both at the Mind of Christ Institute headquarters and at requested locations throughout the United States of America. Classes are often facilitated at churches, schools, and community centers.

Mind of Christ Institute is committed to quality Christian education. MOCI is designed for all levels and aspects of ministry (disciples, leaders, disciples, ministers, deacons, elders, apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors, teachers, and bishops); however, courses are also available for individuals with a thirst for a deeper understanding of scripture.

Founding History of the Mind of Christ Institute

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus (Philippians 2:5).”

The Mind of Christ Institute was founded in the Greater Baltimore area in 2000 by educators and spiritual leaders, Dr. Doral R. Pulley and Pastor Latonia Moss. The school was birthed out of their calls to serve God, minister to those in need of spiritual direction, and remain true to their passions for learning. Pastor Latonia attributed the school's name to Philippians 2:5; “Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.”

“We are renewed through the mind and transformed through the mind. A changed mind allows us to change our behavior. A transformed mind is not immediate, but progressive. A transformed mind happens over a lifetime.” At its inception, the Mind of Christ Institute was an extension of Kingdom Empowerment Center and Training Institute (KECTI) and served as the ministry's academic arm. Nearly 30 aspiring ministers and leaders of KECTI served as the school's first students. Then elders, Doral and Latonia, championed the academic agenda in accordance with their areas of expertise.

Pastor Latonia focused on studies in spiritual and character development, while Dr. Pulley instructed students in leadership development and biblical knowledge. Like many institutions of higher education and advanced learning, MOCI began conducting its classes in the buildings of churches and the basements of homes. The first headquarters was in Dr. Pulley's Woodcrest Avenue home in Baltimore County. The school later held classes in a host of satellite locations to include Saint Frances' Community Center (Chase Street), Kingdom Life Empowerment Ministries (Liberty Road in Randallstown, MD) and 1201 W. Baltimore Street.

The business of ministry within the school has historically been supported by a host of faithful administrators. In the early years, Rebecca Truesdale managed the offices and served as registrar—maintaining the course catalog, academic calendars, and transcripts. Her efforts were continued by Candace Willis from 2006 to 2012. She began as the administrative assistant to the school's dean, A. Bernard Hector, and was progressively promoted to serve as the school's registrar and later its director.

During the span of over 20 years, the Mind of Christ School of Ministry has matriculated more than 100 students, awarding the great majority of them certificates of ministry and/or licensure. Consistent with the school's covenant relationship with the universal Christian church, its certificates have accompanied the ordination and consecration credentials of leaders, ministers, deacons, elders, overseers, and bishops throughout the United States. Much of the infrastructure behind the system that governs the school and church cooperative was documented by Gina A. Dorsey, who served both the school and its covering, the Church of the Everlasting Kingdom for nearly two decades.

In 2010 the consciousness of the school's curriculum was expanded. Like the impetus scripture of Philippians 2:5, Proverbs 9:1 strongly resonated with the school's visionary leadership. "Wisdom hath builded her house, she hath hewn out her seven pillars." It was not enough for graduates of the school to be knowledgeable. The work and business of ministry needed students of truth and wisdom. Dr. Pulley, Bishop Hector, and the governing body of MOCI worked to adopt seven pillars of which to engage and enforce learning:

1. Homiletics/Public Speaking
2. Bible Knowledge
3. Character Development
4. Fivefold Ministry
5. Practical Ministry/Sacraments
6. Metaphysics (Truth Teaching and New Thought Doctrine)
7. Hermeneutics

By these pillars, the school would endeavor to ensure wise, sound, balanced clergy.

Distance Learning

2010 also marked a technological milestone for MOCI when it launched its first virtual campus leveraging the Educadium online learning platform. Through Educadium, the school maintained its full minister track curriculum, inclusive of registration, course catalogs, instruction (streaming lectures, video conferencing, videos, case studies, interactive chats and discussion groups, quizzes and final examinations), grades and transcripts. Educadium hosted virtual campuses for MOCI in Baltimore and Atlanta. These innovative initiatives were led by Julius Ford, who also served for a time as the school's director, dean, and provost.

Expanding its reach to the DC, New York and Florida areas, distance learning has morphed into far more than an online presence and digital footprint. The school now hosts classes, seminars and workshops and conferences on a variety of social mediums (Facebook Live, YouTube, Zoom, Stream Yard). Content for many classes and from some instructors may be found within the pages and posts of Instagram and Twitter as well.

These expansions and technological advancements would not have been possible without the continued evolutionary leadership of the Vice President, former school's dean, Bishop A. Bernard Hector and his diverse faculty and staff. The past two years of online production (especially the last 12 months of thriving through a global pandemic, COVID-19) have been led by Patrick Arthur in Florida. Matching his professionalism and passionate commitment are Renet Dennard Cole (also in Florida) and Linda Johnson in New York. These two ladies have worked as registrars.

In September 2020 Dr. Vince L. Monden was appointed Dean of Mind of Christ School of Ministry by Dr. Doral R. Pulley founder and president. In February 2021 Mind of Christ School of Ministry, changed its name to Mind of Christ Institute. In May 2021 Mind of Christ Institute was granted accreditation, with The Accrediting Commission International Beebe Arkansas.

OTHER WAYS TO EARN COURSE CREDIT

Transfer Credit

Mind of Christ Institute offers credit for some classes that may have been taken at an accredited divinity program.

In a traditional school most credit hours are generally earned by taking and completing classes. Non-traditional educational units may be earned in other ways. The most common methods are these.

Life Experience Credit

Life Experience Learning Credit is given for what you have learned, regardless of how or where it was learned. For example, a given university might offer six courses in German worth 4 semester units each. If you can show them that you speak and write German just as well as someone who has taken and passed those six courses, then they will give you 24 semester units of German, whether you learned the language from your grandmother, from living in Germany, or from Berlitz tapes. The same philosophy is applied to business experience, ministry experience, learning to fly an airplane, military training and dozens of other non-classrooms learning experiences.

Equivalency Examinations

Many institutions of learning say that if you can pass an examination in a subject, then you should get credit for knowing that subject, without having to sit in a classroom month after month to “learn” what you already know.

More than 100 standard equivalency exams are offered, worth anywhere from 2 to 39 semester units each. In general, each hour of examination is worth anywhere from 2 to 6 semester units each. But different schools may award significantly different amounts of credit for the same examinations. Some schools will design examinations in fields in which there are no standard exams.

Online Courses - there are many colleges and universities offering thousands of home study courses, most of which may be taken by people living anywhere in the world. They can take on the forms, including educational videos, audio files, images, worksheets, or other documents. Most online courses also have discussion forms, community groups or messaging options, enabling some way for students to communicate with each other and or the teacher. These courses are generally worth anywhere from 2 to 6 semester units each and require anywhere from a month to two to a year or more to complete.

Learning Contracts- Quite a few schools will negotiate a learning contract with a student. A learning contract is a formal, negotiated agreement between the student and the school, stating that if the student does certain things (for instance, read these books, writes a paper of this length, does the following laboratory experiments, etc.) then, upon their successful completion, the school will award so many units of credit. Learning contracts can be written for anywhere from a few units up to and including an entire program. Often the school will provide a faculty member to guide the course of study.

MOCI Honor Code

Professionals with the highest of responsibilities as students of the ministry, are required by society and God to show a level of integrity that is beyond reproach.

There are two reasons an Honor Code is needed:

1. There should be a sense of satisfaction that you have done what is biblically correct.
2. There should be a recognition that people around you see and know that you are Christian in all you say and do.

Re-admission

If a student has completed a course in the past but has not taken a course under Mind of Christ Institute in four semesters, they are required to complete a new application and pay the applicable fees.

Re-admission after suspension or academic probation is never automatic. The student must apply for re-admission through the Admissions Office, subject to the approval of the Administration. If re-admission is granted, the student must re-enroll in the program, subject to the rates and requirements in effect at the time of re-enrollment.

DESCRIPTIONS OF CURRICULUM TRACKS

Biblical Literacy (Biblical Track)

This track is for persons who desire the ability to rightly read and understand the Bible, using the proper tools of study, thereby becoming well acquainted with the Bible's character (innate qualities) and content. This definition implies a personal interaction with the Bible. It pictures a person who opens their bible and quietly reads a passage of scripture to themselves. They study the passage using the tools they have learned. They then can rightly understand the meaning of the text.

Kingdom Citizenship (Discipleship Track)

Kingdom is the system, form of government a way being, seeing, thinking, speaking, and behaving in which God is the center. This track is for new believers and those who have decided to take a more disciplined approach to their spirituality. It explores the basic spiritual disciplines and helps one establish a firm identity of who God is, who they are, and how they relate to others.

Kingdom Leadership (Leadership Track) Before a person can be an effective leader, he/she must be a good servant. students on this track will learn how to lead their own lives effectively and lead others by example and through servitude. Specific attention will be spent on character development, time management, money management, and emotional management. Basic leadership skills in the areas of written and oral communication will also be taught. Students will learn how to serve as a ministry leader (conduct meetings, plan events, and work with various personality types and learning styles).

General Theology (Minister Track)

This track is for people who feel called to be trained as an official minister. Being a minister is the baseline of service in the local church. We are all called to be ministers because we are all called to serve. God has given all of us the ministry of reconciliation (II Corinthians 5:15-20). He also commanded that we all go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature and to manifest our ministry through laying hands on the sick and casting out devils (Mark 16:15-20). Therefore, it is God's desire that every believer would accept his/her call to ministry thus living a lifestyle that is consistent with such a call and receiving the necessary training to be an effective servant.

Practical Theology (Deacon Track)

This track is for people who desire to be ordained to the office of deacon in the local church. The office of the deacon is the second highest office in the church. It is an ordained position that is appointed by human beings (elders) and approved by God. The position of the deacon was birthed out of a need in the early church (Acts 6). Deacons are servants. They are called to serve the Lord, the spiritual leaders, the elders, and the congregation.

Transformational Theology (Elder Track)

This track is for people who feel called to be trained as an official elder. The office of the elder is the highest ordination in the Body of Christ. The elder is appointed by God and approved by human beings. It is a lifetime position that cannot be revoked. Elders are mature believers who have met the spiritual, personal, and domestic qualifications of the scriptures (I Timothy 3). The hour of singular ministry is over. The plurality of elders in the local church is a biblical concept that was established in the early church and is applicable to the 21st century church. Elders are people who have been called to five-fold ministry. All these ministry gifts are needed for the Body of Christ to reach unity of the faith, full maturity, and to effectively do the work of ministry. There are also elders of administration who are appointed to handle various matters. Elders are to be respected for their wisdom and knowledge and honored for their labor in ministry.

Pastoral Theology (Spiritual Leaders Track)

Jesus Christ was an apostle, prophet, evangelist, pastor, and teacher. When he left, he gave these gifts to people (Ephesians 4:11-13). We do not have to look for another paradigm by which to structure our churches. The Pastoral Ministry guards the congregation and ensures that the needs of the sheep are being met through various services and programs. Pastoral theology thus aims at seeking out the best way possible to render service to those who need God, whether it is in teaching, preaching, administration, worship, singing, praying, counseling, sacramental life, or spiritual life. This track is for people who believe they have been called to the Pastoral Ministry.

Episcopal Studies (Overseer Track)

An Overseer is a mature elder with years of training and experience who assists a bishop by completing various assigned task or in some instances an assignment to a territory. This track is for people of whom has usually served as an Elder and has been designated by the Presiding Prelate of an organization or reformation. Some organizations and reformations use the position of an overseer as a training ground for the office of the bishop. This track is designed to educate the individual on the role and responsibility of an overseer.

Episcopal Theology (Bishop Track)

It is a non-governmental body and makes no claim to be connected with the government.
